

Aging Artfully:

12 Profiles of Visual and Performing Artists 85-105

"In a world full of negative aging images, Aging Artfully movingly documents the fact that old age can be a fulfilling time of creative-expression and gratification."

-Dr. David J. Demko

Madeline Mason, age 100

March 20, 2008 7PM

at the New Art Center
61 Washington Park
Newtonville, MA

$5 Suggested Donation

The New Art Center and Discovering What's Next welcome you to attend a presentation given by Amy Gorman, author of Aging Artfully: 12 Profiles of Visual and Performing Artists 85-105. This inspirational event will share the stories of remarkable women aging artfully. A screening of Greg Young's film Still Kicking is included in the presentation.

For more information:
Call 617-964-3424

www.newartcenter.org
www.discoveringwhatsnext.com
www.agingartfully.com

Aging Artfully:

12 Profiles of Visual and Performing Artists 85-105

"In a world full of negative aging images, Aging Artfully movingly documents the fact that old age can be a fulfilling time of creative-expression and gratification."

-Dr. David J. Demko

Madeline Mason, age 100

March 20, 2008 7PM

at the New Art Center
61 Washington Park
Newtonville, MA

$5 Suggested Donation

The New Art Center and Discovering What's Next welcome you to attend a presentation given by Amy Gorman, author of Aging Artfully: 12 Profiles of Visual and Performing Artists 85-105. This inspirational event will share the stories of remarkable women aging artfully. A screening of Greg Young's film Still Kicking is included in the presentation.

For more information:
Call 617-964-3424

www.newartcenter.org
www.discoveringwhatsnext.com
www.agingartfully.com